Explanatory notes for sections 3 and 4.

As a club/league officer, committee member, director or trustee you accept ultimate responsibility for directing the affairs of your club or league, ensuring that it remains solvent, well run and meets the needs for which it has been established. Delegating responsibilities is common, however as an officer, committee member, director or trustee you retain the ultimate responsibility for any decisions or action taken, for example accepting new members or directing how club funds are to be used.

Clubs and leagues can be subject to a large number of rules and regulations. Officers, committee members, directors and trustees also need to be aware of these requirements and must ensure that the club or league complies. What you have to comply with will vary depending on your activities or your size. Examples include compliance with:

- legislation concerning racial, sexual and age harassment and discrimination
- employment law for any club/league employing staff (this may include volunteers)
- Health and safety regulations including those relating to employees, club or league members and the general public.

The following covers would provide officers and committee liability and professional indemnity insurance. To protect your personal assets these covers include claims brought against individuals.

5. Cyber liability | £250,000

- The negligent transmission of a computer virus to anyone with whom the Insured does business or to anyone who uses the Insured's website in the course of their business; or
- A breach, violation or infringement of any right to privacy, consumer data protection law, or other legal protection for personal data.
- The unauthorised collection or misuse of any data concerning any customer or potential customer which is either confidential or subject to statutory restrictions on its use and which the Insured obtained through the internet or extranet or website and held electronically.

Main exceptions

- The first part of any claim (your excess).
- Deliberate or dishonest acts.
- Prior claims, investigations and circumstances.
- Breach of contract.

Important conditions:

You must:

- Take reasonable steps to use, maintain and upgrade any program which protects against computer viruses or any unauthorised use of or access to the Insured's computer system, network, electronic link or website.
- Make back-up copies of any data, file or program at reasonably frequent intervals.
- Cancel any username, password or other security protection after the Insured became aware or had reasonable grounds to suspect that it had been made available to any unauthorised person.
- Make reasonable steps to ensure that all personal data held by the Insured is encrypted.

This section of the policy is written on a 'claims made' basis - please refer to the glossary.

Some claims examples and FAQs

1. Public & products liability

Why should I have it?

Claims examples:

1) A player slid off the pitch into a concrete post. It was alleged that the post was erected too close to the playing surface and injury could have been avoided if the club had taken prior action. The club were held liable for the injury to the player.

2) During a football competition the club provided their own barbeque and supplied burgers and snacks. Following the event the club received news of several cases of food poisoning from various people that had attended the event. The club were held responsible.

2. Employers liability

Why should I have it?

Claims example:

A club asked a 'volunteer' if he would put the nets up on a regular basis in return for a small monetary reward. The club supplied a wooden step ladder to help fulfil the task.

The stepladder collapsed whilst the volunteer was using it and resulted in sustaining an injury. It was proven that the step ladder was rotten and unsuitable for the task at hand. The club were held liable under Employers Liability because of the master-servant relationship.

3. Officers & committee liability

Why should I have it?

Claims example:

During a committee meeting club member A read out a statement relating to club member B. Club member B took offence to this statement and later pursued legal action against club member A for alleged defamation of character.

4. Professional indemnity

Why should I have it?

Claims example:

A club coach decided to bring in a new warm-up regime before a game. A few players reported back pains a week later. It was alleged that these injuries were as a result of the new training regime and the advice that the club coach had been giving the players.

Claims for injury were pursued against the coach for the instruction and advice he had given. The policy offered protection to the club coach in this particular case.

5. Cyber liability

Why should I have it?

Claims example:

A club official drove to work with a laptop on back seat of the car. Whilst stopped at a set of lights a thief reached in and stole the laptop which happened to contain information on club members, including names and address, contact numbers, dates of birth, nationalities and some bank details.

The club had to advise all their members and organisations of the loss of data in addition to having to deal with some adverse publicity.

Frequently asked questions

Q: Does the policy cover third party injuries sustained inside a clubhouse?

A: Yes. The policy is designed to cover slips, trips and falls due to your negligence but not if your club building is a licensed premises (refer to the glossary).

Q: Can we have a 'Lads v Dads' match?

A: No. TheFAW does not sanction these types of activities. We have received claims in the past following serious injuries in these types of games.

Q: Does the policy cover injury to players?

A: This is a liability policy only so is designed to provide protection for claims made against you if you are found to be at fault or negligent in some way. For players to be protected for injury, regardless of blame, clubs should consider buying personal accident insurance. Visit bluefinsport.co.uk/faw for further information.

Q: Are soccer tots covered?

A: Yes. There are no age restrictions to the liability policies however, it is recommended that for children under 5 years of age their parent or guardian remains with their child.

Q: Are coaches covered?

A: Coaches are covered whilst working solely for the club but not independently.

Q: We are having a bonfire and firework display. Are we covered?

A: Not automatically. Please contact us and we will provide a quotation for you and offer some health and safety advice.

Q: My kit/phone was stolen having been left in the changing rooms whilst I played - can I make a claim

A: In the first instance this type of claim needs to be referred to your own insurance provider i.e. mobile phone insurance or household cover. Your own club may have a contents policy which potentially could cover items away from the club. A liability claim will only be successful if the club have acted in a negligent fashion.

Claims made (Please note this only applies to Sections 3, 4 and 5.)

This is in contrast to policies that respond to a loss or claim that occurred during the period of cover.
